The non-invasive Aptofit TrackPro tracker is great for tracking your health smartly and painlessly. It keeps tabs on your glucose, heart rate, oxygen, sleep, and more.

What is the Aptofit TrackPro?

The Aptofit TrackPro is a groundbreaking non-invasive smartwatch that is meant to effortlessly keep an eye on your glucose levels and other important health information.

It was made by top watch designers and glucose tracking experts. Its main innovation is that a glucose monitor chip that was only available in expensive medical devices can now be found in a small wearable.

The TrackPro gives you glucose levels right from your wrist in real time, so you don't have to prick your fingers. Besides tracking glucose, it keeps an eye on daily exercise, sleep patterns, body temperature, blood oxygen levels, and heart rate.

Its IP67 rating means that it is waterproof and can be used every day without breaking. Its 230mAh battery lasts a long time and lets you watch continuously for up to a week.

The Aptofit TrackPro is a lightweight, fashionable, and easy-to-use health tracker that gives people—especially those with diabetes—constant updates about their health for a low price.

How does TrackPro by Aptofit work?

The Aptofit TrackPro uses advanced biosensing technology that doesn't hurt the user and is designed to look like a sleek smartwatch.

At its core is a cutting-edge Glucose Monitor Chip that can read blood glucose levels through the skin without needing blood or needles.

This chip uses optical sensors and algorithms to look at interstitial fluids just below the surface of the skin. It sends precise, up-to-the-minute glucose levels to your wrist.

Besides checking glucose levels, the TrackPro has a PPG heart rate tracker, a SpO2 detector, a body temperature sensor, and a sleep analyzer.

These monitors use light to measure important signs of health, like the amount of oxygen in your blood, your pulse rate, and your body temperature. The watch has a step and calorie counter that keeps track of your daily activities by tracking your movements.

All health data is shown in an interface that is easy to read, so users can see how they're doing physically at any time, without having to use complex tools or go through invasive procedures.

Perks

The Aptofit TrackPro is a smartwatch and a personal health ally that is made to help you control your health more easily and give you medical-grade information.

Pain-Free Glucose Monitoring: No more costly test strips and glucose checks that hurt your fingers. Aptofit TrackPro uses sensor technology that doesn't have to touch the skin to track glucose levels in real time. This makes it easier and more comfortable for people with diabetes or who need to keep an eye on their blood sugar.

24/7 Health Awareness: The TrackPro keeps an eye on your heart rate, blood pressure, blood oxygen, and body temperature all the time and gives you immediate information about your vital signs. Finding problems early on can get you faster medical help, which can help you stay ahead of health risks.

Better Sleep, Better Recovery: Tracking your sleep can help you see how much rest you're actually getting. The watch helps you recover better and feel more energetic and happy during the day by looking at your sleep habits.

Encourages a healthier way of living The step and calorie trackers help you reach your exercise goals by holding you accountable. The data supports daily exercise and weight management, whether you walk more or keep an eye on the calories you burn.

Made for Daily Living: It can handle water and sweat because it's IP67 waterproof rated. This means you can wear it during workouts, showers, or even light swimming without having to take it off in your daily life.

Low Maintenance, Long Battery: With a battery life of seven days, you can keep an eye on things instead of charging the device for most of the time. You can count on it; it's always there for you when you need it.

Support and Peace of Mind: The Aptofit TrackPro makes people feel safe, particularly those with long-term illnesses. You and your family can feel better about taking care of your health when you know that your body is being watched all the time.
